

My Life
by Jenny Hu

I was born in a small town and went to grade school but graduated from Shanghai College. It's a big city. In college, I majored in medical profession but I worked other office. Name is Textile Machinery Factory until October 1977, I retired. November 29, 1989, visited my daughter of the America with my husband. We intended to live in the United States because all men are equal. I have a lot of friends in Shanghai, China. I miss them. Every Christmas we send each other a card.
